RAINY RIVER FIRST NATIONS

2018 HOUSING RECOGNITION AWARD RECIPIENT

Rainy River First Nations is a community that takes pride in being a leader in the establishment of self-sufficiency and self-governance. The Rainy River First Nations Housing Department had the vision to strategically improve the housing in their community.

It was the goal of previous Chief Jim Leonard & Council to develop housing that had increased R values and to provide the community with a higher quality of living. Alain Tanguay, the Housing Manager for Rainy River First Nations, took on the management of the development of these duplexes with his years of experience as a building inspector.

The Rainy River First Nations Housing Department built three high efficiency duplexes that included high efficiency furnaces, HRV Units, high efficiency hot water tanks, hot water on demand and LED lighting. Top of the line accessories such as cabinets and appliances were also put into the duplexes to compliment the energy efficiency of the duplexes. This higher quality of living included cost savings for tenants, above code building standards and over the top design and aesthetics.

As Rainy River First Nations continues to be a leader in self-sufficiency and self-governance, the improvements in their community housing deserves to be recognized. For these accomplishments, Rainy River First Nations is being award a Community Housing Recognition award for 2018.
